A Unique Civilian–Military Partnership

Servicemembers Opportunity Colleges (SOC), a consortium of national higher education associations and participating member institutions, functions in cooperation with the Department of Defense (DoD), and the military Services, including the National Guard and the Coast Guard, to help meet the voluntary higher education needs of servicemembers.

Hundreds of thousands of servicemembers, their family members, and civilian employees of DoD and the military Services enroll annually in college-level programs. SOC Consortium institutional members — universities, two-year and four-year colleges, and technical institutes — subscribe to principles and criteria to ensure that high-quality academic programs are available to military students.

SOC was established in 1972 by civilian and military educators to help strengthen and coordinate voluntary college-level educational opportunities for servicemembers. SOC does this by:

- seeking to help the higher education community understand and respond to special needs of servicemembers;
- advocating the flexibility needed to improve access to and availability of educational programs for servicemembers;
- helping the military Services, including the National Guard and the Coast Guard, understand the resources, limits, and requirements of higher education;
- helping the higher education community to understand the resources, limits, and requirements of the military Services, including the National Guard and the Coast Guard; and
- seeking to strengthen liaison and working relationships among military and higher education representatives.

SOC Consortium institutional members collectively confer the full range of associate, baccalaureate, and graduate degrees. Many offer on-base programs and some serve military installations overseas. Some SOC Consortium members, as part of the SOC Degree Network System act as "home colleges" for servicemembers who, by prior agreement, also can earn academic credits elsewhere.

SOC operates under terms of a contract between the American Association of State Colleges and Universities (AASCU), the fiscal and administrative agent, and the Defense Activity for Non-Traditional Education Support (DANTES), the contract monitor for the Department of Defense.

The SOC Principles and Criteria

To achieve its goals, SOC is founded on principles agreed to collectively by the higher education community through the SOC Advisory Board, the Office of the Secretary of Defense (OSD), and the Military Services including the National Guard, and the Coast Guard.

The SOC Principles are predicated upon such principles as those set forth in the Joint Statement on the Transfer and Award of Credit of the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers (AACRAO), the American Council on Education (ACE), and the Council for Higher Education Accreditation (CHEA). They are drawn principally from the cumulative experience of educational institutions and agencies judged successful in their work with servicemembers.

Principle 1. In order to enhance their military effectiveness and to achieve their educational, vocational, and career goals, servicemembers should share in the postsecondary educational opportunities available to other citizens.

Principle 2. Educational programs for ser-vicemembers should rely primarily on programs, courses, and services provided by appropriately accredited institutions and organizations, including high schools, postsecondary vocational and technical schools, colleges, and universities.

Principle 3. To enhance access to undergraduate educational opportunities for servicemembers, institutions should maintain a necessary flexibility of programs and procedures, particularly in admissions, credit transfer, and recognition of other applicable learning, including that gained in the military, in scheduling and format of courses; and in academic residency requirements to offset servicemembers' mobility, isolation from campuses, and part-time student status.

The SOC Criteria create a framework for institutions to translate SOC Principles into performance and action. The SOC Criteria stipulate that institutional policies and practices be fair, equitable, and effective in recognizing the special and often limiting conditions faced by military students.

Criterion 1. Transfer of Credit. SOC institutions design transfer practices for servicemembers to minimize loss of credit and avoid duplication of course work, while simultaneously maintaining the integrity of their programs.

Criterion 2. Academic Residency Requirements. SOC Consortium institutions limit academic residency for active-duty servicemembers to no more than 25 percent of the undergraduate degree program, with courses taken at any time during the program of study. SOC Consortium institutions that offer one hundred percent of an undergraduate degree online may require thirty percent of that degree in residence. Colleges joining SOC only to participate in the Concurrent Admissions Program (ConAP) are exempt from this criterion.

Criterion 3. Crediting Learning from Military Experience. SOC Consortium institutions award credit recommended by the American Council on Education's (ACE) Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experiences in the Armed Services for military training and experience when applicable to servicemembers' degree programs.

Criterion 4. Crediting Extra-institutional Learning. SOC Consortium institutions award credit for at least one of the nationally-recognized, non-traditional learning testing programs provided for servicemembers by the OSD. These examinations include CLEP, DSST, and ECE whether or not they supplement institutional challenge examinations or test-out procedures.

In addition to the SOC Criteria, some operating guidelines can be drawn from the SOC Principles and the experience of educational institutions and agencies that have shown success and quality in their educational offerings to servicemembers. These guidelines should be viewed as desired institutional behavior for SOC institutions. To facilitate admission and enrollment of qualified servicemembers, SOC institutions:

- Recognize the GED high school equivalency certificate/diploma;
- Accept and record previously successful post-secondary study as part of a servicemember's degree requirements, if applicable;
- Recognize learning gained from specialized training and experience in the military Services or elsewhere;
- Establish competency by nationally-recognized means, such as standardized tests;
- Publicize alternative admission procedures available to servicemembers and waive formal admission procedures for those seeking enrollment in course work for transfer to another institution;
- Conduct a timely evaluation of the educational records and relevant experiences of servicemembers.

SOC Operating Programs

SOC operates a variety of programs that give servicemembers opportunities to:

- Earn associate or bachelor's degrees through the SOC Degree Network System while in the Army (SOCAD), Navy (SOCNAV), Marine Corps (SOCMAR), or Coast Guard (SOC-COAST).
- Select a college concurrently with enlistment in the Army or Army Reserve (ConAP).
- Earn college credits and degrees while in the Army National Guard (SOCGuard).

For more detailed information, see:

SOC Degree Network System

SOC coordinates a far-reaching program of associate and bachelor's degree networks for Army (SOC-AD), Navy (SOCNAV), Marine Corps (SOCMAR), and Coast Guard (SOCCOAST) personnel, provided by civilian colleges and universities serving military installations worldwide. Servicemembers may take courses in their off-duty hours in classrooms on or near military installations in the United States, overseas, or on Navy and Coast Guard ships. They may enroll in "distance learning" courses offered online, through CD-ROM, PDA, videocassette, television, radio, correspondence, etc. The programs also are available to family members of active-duty servicemembers.

SOC Degree Network System institutions are designated as either Core or Affiliate members:

- Core member institutions offer at least one degree program in a Guaranteed-Transfer Network. In addition, selected degree programs identified under existing Service-approved Memoranda of Understanding/Agreement or outlined in contracts for the provision of educational services to military installations or military voluntary education may be listed by Core member institutions in Auxiliary networks.

- Affiliate member institutions offer distinctive and highly-specialized degree programs that meet an identified educational need of a particular military Service, often associated with a specific Military Occupational Specialty (MOS) or Rating, or serving a targeted military population. These degrees fall outside those offered by Core member institutions in the SOC Degree Network System and are often linked to the knowledge, skills, and abilities acquired with specialized military experience. As such, these degrees incorporate substantial credit awards for military training and occupational specialties into their major and major-related degree requirements.

Key components SOCAD, SOCNAV, SOCMAR, and SOCCOAST are:

- A "home college" where military students complete their academic residency. When they move to new duty stations, they transfer their courses and military experience credit obtained at the new location back to the home college which awards the degree when all its requirements are met.
- A Student Agreement that acts as a contract-for-degree between the home college and servicemember – a degree plan that evaluates all prior learning, lists academic requirements to be fulfilled, and guarantees award of the degree when the requirements are met.
- Guaranteed transferability of college credits. Within Guaranteed-Transfer Networks, Core member colleges review one another's courses in major and major-related areas and guarantee two-way transferability for those courses that are assigned SOC Degree Network System Course Category Codes.

Within SOCAD, Army Career Degrees are Military Occupational Specialty (MOS)-related college degrees that translate Army training and experience into college credit. They show Soldiers precise options for meeting college requirements with Army training. See the SOCAD Web page to view the current list of Army Career Degrees.

eArmyU is the Army's educational initiative designed to offer Soldiers the opportunity to complete a college degree "anytime, anywhere." eArmyU provides eligible Soldier-students with access to a wide variety of online courses and degree programs. All eArmyU institutions are SOC Consortium members; those offering associate and bachelor's degrees also hold SOCAD membership. Additional information about eArmyU can be found online at:

https://www.goarmyed.com/

GoArmyEd is a the virtual gateway and dynamic online portal for Soldiers on active duty to request Tuition Assistance online, anytime for classroom, distance learning, and eArmyU college courses. GoArmyEd is used by Soldiers to pursue their postsecondary educational goals and by Army Education Counselors to provide educational guidance. Colleges use GoArmyEd to deliver degrees and course offerings, as well as to report Soldier progress toward degree completion. Access GoArmyEd at:

https://www.goarmyed.com/

The Navy periodically selects a number of "partner colleges" to offer career-field-related associate and bachelor's degrees for various Ratings through distance learning. Each Rating has two or more partner colleges offering degrees at both the associate and bachelor's level. Since January 1, 2001, these college partners have been collectively known as the Navy College Program Distance Learning Partnership (NCPDLP). All partner colleges must be SOCNAV affiliated.

The Navy College Program for Afloat College Education (NCPACE) provides academic skills and college courses at the undergraduate and graduate levels to sea-duty Sailors. All NCPACE courses are based on degree plans from institutions with SOCNAV affiliation to provide Sailors a seamless transfer of credits among entities within the Navy College Program.

Concurrent Admissions Program (ConAP)

The Concurrent Admissions Program (ConAP) is a partnership between the Army Recruiting Command and participating SOC Consortium colleges and universities. SOC assists with implementation and management, and serves as liaison among Army recruiters, ConAP colleges, Army education centers, and the higher education community. ConAP goals are to increase enlistment of college-capable Soldiers, both active-duty and reserve; increase the number of Army Soldiers, Reserve Soldiers, and veterans enrolled in college; and increase use of Montgomery GI Bill education benefits.

When Soldiers enlist in the Army or Army Reserve, recruiters encourage them to select a ConAP college. New Soldiers send a College Referral and Intent to Enroll form to the selected college(s) stating their intent to enroll during or after enlistment. The college acknowledges the Soldier's intent and advises the Soldier to apply for admission not more than one year before the expected college entrance date, prepare for the college academic experience, consider distance learning, and stay in touch by e-mail and the college Web site.

Colleges participating in ConAP are members of the SOC Consortium. As such, they agree to use good academic practice in accepting courses from other colleges, use the American Council on Education's (ACE) Guide to the Evaluation of Educational Experiences in the Armed Services to award credit for military courses that fit a student's curriculum, and award credit for at least one nationally recognized testing program. Colleges joining the SOC Consortium only to participate in ConAP are exempt from SOC Criterion 2, Academic Residency Requirements, and abide by their existing academic residency requirements. The reason is that ConAP Soldiers return as veterans, will live in the community, and are able to meet a residency requirement.

For more detailed information, see:

http://www.soc.aascu.org/conap/

SOCGuard

SOCGuard is a college outreach program with the mission of integrating postsecondary education with key Army National Guard (ARNG) activities and functions. SOCGuard serves as a liaison between the higher education community and the ARNG. SOCGuard also advises and assists Education Services Officers (ESOs) in pursuing partnership opportunities with institutions in their states. SOCGuard outreach activities include college workshops, recruiter training, professional and military education conferences, ARNG meetings, and college visits.

The goals of the SOC/ARNG partnership are to (1) link ARNG civilian, military education, and training needs with programs offered by local colleges and universities; (2) facilitate the development of partnerships between colleges/universities and the ARNG to enhance and expand education options for Guard members; (3) assist ARNG ESOs in understanding and marketing ARNG education benefits to Soldiers; and (4) support ARNG mobilization and demobilization activities.

To achieve its goals, SOCGuard staff members work with ARNG headquarters and field personnel to provide experience, support, and materials to further the Guard mission. Additional SOCGuard responsibilities include managing institutional partnerships at the ARNG Education Support Center (ESC) in Little Rock, Arkansas.

SOCGuard encourages Army National Guard Soldiers to establish eligibility for and take advantage of GI Bill education benefits, federal tuition assistance, free testing services, state-funded education assistance programs (where available), and ESO and education counseling services.

For more detailed information, see:

http://www.soc.aascu.org/socguard/

Services for Veterans

For veterans returning to civilian life to begin or continue study, civilian SOC Consortium institutions provide appropriate evaluation of their training, experience, and prior study as well as other services similar to those afforded servicemembers. Some SOC Criteria apply equally to veterans — admissions practices, transfer of credit, and recognition of other forms of learning, including military experience.

SOC National Office

The SOC national office is located in Washington, DC, where it maintains liaison with its 15 sponsoring higher education associations, the Department of Defense, DANTES, and the Military Services, including the National Guard and the Coast Guard. SOC's address is:
